

Communicating with your hands and face

Sometimes we communicate without language. Each picture tells us something without using language.

