

How do we communicate if we can't see?

People who are blind and cannot see use the Braille
alphabet when they read and write.

Hello

The Braille alphabet uses dots that you can feel on the paper with your fingers. When people who know Braille run their fingers across the dots, they can read the words with their fingers. The Braille alphabet was invented by a man called Louis Braille, who could not see.

